

angel TREE MISSION

The Cortez Family

Battling: 2-year-old, AJ

Just four short months ago, life changed for the Cortez family when 2-year-old Antonio “AJ” Cortez, Jr. was diagnosed with Acute Lymphoid Leukemia. AJ’s dad, Antonio Sr., has seen a drastic change in his little man and although it hurts his heart, he stays hopeful and believes AJ is on the road to being cured. Thankfully, his treatment has providing positive results and they are currently on the 2nd phase of treatment at Texas Children’s Hospital.

The Cortezes have a total of five young children and keeping a job is hard as they juggle their little one and havingt to continuously be in & out of the hospital. They’re currently living with family to try and make ends meet but no matter the hardship, they are so grateful that AJ is alive and getting better.

This year we join to help this family have a wonderful Christmas!